Safety Standards:

EN 397 is a European standard that specifies the safety requirements for industrial safety helmets. It ensures that helmets used in industrial environments provide adequate protection against:

- Impact from falling objects
- Penetration by sharp objects
- Chinstrap release performance
- Flame resistance

Helmets compliant with EN 397 must also meet basic performance standards for shock absorption, resistance to temperature extremes, and electrical insulation (if applicable). Optional tests under EN397 may include resistance to very low or high temperatures, lateral deformation, or molten metal splash.

Care Instructions:

Use mild soap and warm water to clean. Avoid strong solvents, abrasives, or chemical cleaners. Wipe dry with a soft cloth.

Store in a cool, dry place, away from: Direct sunlight, Chemicals or vapors, Extreme temperatures.

Do not store under heavy objects that may deform the shell.

Before each use, check for: Cracks, dents, or deformities in the shell. Brittle or faded plastic. Damaged or worn suspension/straps. Replace immediately if any defects are found.
